

Title:

Another n -point abc Conjecture

Abstract:

We will interpret the abc conjecture as a statement about four points in the projective line. For function fields of characteristic zero, where the abc conjecture is a theorem, we will consider generalizations corresponding to n points in the projective line. If time permits, we will also discuss analogous conjectures for number fields.