Speaker: David McKinnon

Title: How to approximate rational points

Abstract: Due to covid-19, rational points on algebraic varieties are being forced to socially distance themselves. In this talk, we will explore some reasons why this behavior might persist beyond the end of the pandemic, relating to the existence of superspreader rational curves.